

Cleaning the Land and Seas with singing and nets of light

Last weekend we made orgonite devices for cleaning the seas, and as we were taking a break, one of the women in meeting said: "there must be an easier way of cleaning the seas, than dumping more stuff (orgonite devices) in them."

I immediately remembered the story my little sister has told me:

My sister has told me that in her vision a light being came to her and told her: "it is time you started cleaning this planet". The light being took her to the shore of the sea near where she lives. My sister and the light being then cleaned the sea with a light net they received from Mother Earth. They dipped the net in the water and then slowly lifted it out and dumped the "garbage", out of the water, on the beach. After doing it many times, the water became clean and my sister saw a whale and light dolphins jumping into the water and swimming!

My sister lighted a match and set the "garbage" on the beach ablaze. The "garbage" burned away and disappeared.

I told the woman at the meeting my sisters story and the woman said she will try it.

Yesterday, I told my sister what has happened in the meeting and she said I have left out an important part of the story. She said that in the vision, she cleaned the oceans using a light net, BUT she activated it with her voice. I asked her to teach me how she's done it, but she said she doesn't know. She knew how to do it in the vision, but she didn't know how to do it in "real" life.

The next day, I decided I have to try the cleaning method myself. I went to the forest near my home, and set on a bench over looking the sea. I called my Spirit Guide and asked her to teach me the technique. (I have two guides working with me: a female Earth Spirit and a male Angel). My spirit guide then called one of her sisters, a Water Spirit and she taught me how to clean the sea. I connected my root chakra to the center of the earth with a tube of light and then I let the Water Spirit take over my energy field so that my energy field became totally yin – female energy. I then asked Mother Earth to help me clean the sea.

I felt a golden energy rising up from the center of the earth, through my chakras (root, sacral, solar plexus, heart and throat) and coming out of my mouth.

When the golden light came out of my mouth, it became a huge net of light that spread all over the sea in front of me.

I asked the Water Spirit: "and what do I do now?"

The Water Spirit said: "breathe in".

I breathed in and the light net descended into the water.

I filled myself with love for the whole universe, and sang: "OOOOOOOOOOoooooooooh".

When I started singing the light net started vibrating with the love in my heart and started rising up.

When it was outside the water, I dumped the black material out of it on the beach.

Then I breathed in again, and the net went back deep in the water.

I sang with love again and the net came up again, and when it was out of the water I dumped its contents on the same spot as earlier.

I kept on breathing in, singing and emptying the net until I felt the water were clean and I saw light dolphins laughing and swimming in the water. I then lighted a golden match and burned the pile of black material.

I then left the bench and walked home. After a few meters of walking, 5 earth spirits came and thanked me.

Cleaning a river and a landfill with singing and the earth grid

The next day I decided to clean the river next to my home. As I was walking to the river, an Earth Spirit approached me and asked me to clean the spoiled land, near my house. The city of Helsinki has cleaned up a shooting range that used to exist next to my home. They sucked out the spoiled land, that was filled with lead and copper, with huge vacuum cleaner trucks, and then dumped it into a hole in the ground next to my home. Then they covered the hole with white gravel. As though the white color will make us forget that the land was spoiled.

I promised the Earth Spirit I will clean the spoiled land as well.

I continued on to the river and sat on the grass near the river, warming myself in the sun. I connected my root chakra to the centre of the earth with a tube of light and I asked Mother Earth to help me clean the river. Again I felt golden energy rising through the light tube. The energy went upwards through my chakras and came out of my mouth. It then formed a light net over the whole length of the river; over kilometers and kilometers of water.

I breathed in and the light net sank into the bottom of the river.

I felt on love in my heart and began singing: "OOOOOOOOOOOoooooooooooh". The whole net started vibrating with love and rising up. I noticed that it's important to concentrate on the love vibration, even after you have stopped singing, because that vibration is the thing that cleans. Once the net was completely out of the water I emptied its contents on the shore, not too close to me.

I then breathed again and the net sank in the water again. I sang with love again, and the net has risen again. Again I emptied it next to me.

After doing it for about 20 times, I felt the water were clean, so I stopped and imagined that in the end of the golden energy, coming out of my mouth, there is a match. I lighted the match, and used it to burn the pile of "garbage" I took out of the river.

I then went to the spoiled land area near my home. It's about 1000 square meters in size. Again I asked Mother Earth to help me clean the Area and again I felt golden energy rising through me and out of my mouth. When I breathed in, the net sank, maybe 50 meters deep, into the Earth. When I started singing with love, the net started vibrating and rising. When it was out of the ground, I dumped its contents on one spot.

I kept on cleaning the Earth like that, until my singing muscle got so tired I couldn't go on, so I stopped. I lighted a "match" and burned the pile of "garbage" I have collected. This time the burning took a long time. First the "garbage" on the surface of the ground burned away. I then "saw" that underneath the garbage, there was a deep shaft full of black stuff. It felt as though the black shaft is a painful wound in Mother Earth. The flame went downwards, into the shaft, consuming away the black material. After About ten minutes all the black material was consumed by the flame and I saw golden energy on the bottom of the shaft. Then I knew all the black stuff has been completely removed from that spot, and Mother Earth will be able to heal that wound on her own.

The next day I went to the same place and finished the job of cleaning the spoiled land.

That day I was also informed that the golden energy is part of the light net of Mother Earth and she let's us use it if our intentions are honorable.

The Meditation

If you want to clean the lands or seas next to your home, this is how you do it:

- Create a holy/safe place where you can do healing work.
- Decide what area/sea you want to clean, or ask Mother Earth, which area/sea needs to be cleaned.
- Connect yourself with a tube of light to the Sun and to the Center of the Earth. The light tube should start from the sun, go through you, and then go from your root chakra to the core of the Earth.
- Ask mother Earth to help you clean the land/sea, you have chosen to clean. You will feel golden energy rising from the center of the Earth, through your chakras and coming out of your mouth. When the energy comes out of your mouth it will become a huge net of light that will spread all over the are/sea you are cleaning.
- Once the net is spread all over the area/sea, breathe in. The net will sink into the ground/water.
- Fill your heart with love to every living creature and sing “AAAAAAAAAaaaaaaaaahhh”, with love. If you have a good connection to Mother Earth, she will tell you what to sing. While you’re singing the net will start to vibrate with love and to rise up. The vibration is what cleans the material, so concentrate on the vibration even after you have stopped singing.
- Once you feel the net is completely above the ground/water, turn it in your mind and dump it’s contents somewhere outside the area/sea. Not to close to you.
- Breathe in again. The net will sink into the ground/water again.
- Sing with love again. The net will vibrate with love again and will rise up.
- Empty the net again on the same spot.
- Keep on repeating this process until you feel the ground/water is vibrating with love. The ground/water will “smile” to you. Then you will know the area/sea is clean.
- Imagine the energy coming out of your mouth becomes a snake of light with a match/torch in its end. Burn the black material you have collected, with the match torch. Stay with the fire and wait until it has consumed all the black material away. Sometimes the fire will move underground and will clean a black shaft/vain inside Mother Earth. Stay with the fire until the fire consumes itself.
- Thank Mother Earth and yourself. You have done a very important thing!

Once you have cleaned the area around you home you will notice that the weather patterns around your home are gentler, there are less clouds and the weather is nicer.

I hope this story will inspire some of you to clean the seas and land near your homes. You don’t need to be a good singer to clean the earth – you only need a little bit of love in your heart... ☺

Love and light to you all,
